Charming ceramic double chamber sink Deante Lusitano 860.2 from a highly renowned manufacturer of kitchen sinks, Deante. Deante has been on the market for over 30 years, representing a guarantee of quality. Deante brand products are called ProEco, which means they use natural materials such as ceramics for production. The company is also environmentally friendly, utilizing Eco packaging.

With its elegant appearance, the Lusitano 860.2 sink is intended for kitchens in a classic, Provencal or rustic style, where light colors and wood dominate. The minimalism and smooth white ceramic surface of the sink perfectly harmonize with the glossy surface of stone countertops.

The Lusitano 860.2 sink has two washing chambers that are deep enough (20 cm) to accommodate large pots and baking trays. The two sink basins are highly versatile. The sink is designed for use with a cabinet size of 80 cm.

The sink has two holes drilled, see product photo. The hole that will not be used can be sealed with a plug, which is included in the sink accessories, see photo. This plug is inserted into the hole and tightened from below. There is no risk of leakage.

Among the main advantages of ceramic sinks, we include high resistance to impact, resistance to scratches, high temperature resistance, hygienic safety. The Lusitano 860.2 ceramic sink is easy to use and clean, it only needs to be wiped. Colorfastness - the sink remains beautifully white for several years.

Warning: Due to the traditional manufacturing technology, the dimensions of the sinks may slightly vary in the mold casting process. For this reason, the manufacturer is unable to guarantee the exact dimensions stated in the technical specification. When designing your kitchen, please take into account a certain tolerance and ideally work directly with the specific sink. Thank you for your understanding.

Note: The Lusitano sink has a so-called "hidden" overflow. The drain in one container cannot be closed completely. This system functions as an overflow.
